

How to Attract Wealth and Abundance:

The Power of Universal Law and Positive Thinking

Hannah Zachary

Copyright

© 2012 by Hannah Zachary

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced, copied, stored, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, photographic, or mechanical, including photocopying, recording, or in any information storage and retrieval systems, without prior written permission of the author or publisher, except where permitted by law.

Terms of Use

Any information provided in this book is through the author's interpretation. The author has done strenuous work to reassure the accuracy of this subject. If you wish you attempt any of the practices provided in this book, you are doing so with your own responsibility. The author will not be held accountable for any misinterpretations or misrepresentations of the information provided here.

All information provided is done so with every effort to represent the subject, but does not guarantee that your life will change. The author shall not be held liable for any direct or indirect damages that result from reading this book.

Contents

Introduction

The Law of Attraction

Thought As a Vibration

Improve Your Brain Power

Mental Attitude

The Power of Visualization

Personal Magnetism

Reasons You Fail to Attract What You Want

Increase Your Intelligence

How to Manifest Your Desire

Powerful Affirmation Technique

Fear

Boost Your Confidence

Seven Habits of Highly Motivated People

Setting Goals

Knowing Your Why

Change Your Mindset

Mental Concentration

Intuition

Creative Thinking

Spiritual Growth

Self-Hypnosis

Meditation

Introduction

We live in a most enchanting world, with miracles around every corner. As the human race, we may think we know everything, but the truth is, we don't. We know only a certain percentage of this charming universe and the rest we leave to blissful ignorance. "So?" You may ask, "may be what we don't know won't hurt us." Sure, but what if the things we didn't know could make an enormous impact on our lives, for the better.

What if we were missing out on living our lives to the fullest possible extent? What if we were not using our God given talent and capabilities in the right way? Wouldn't you want to know if there was a way to improve your life through the power of the universe and yourself?

Although this all may sound like magic, it is surprisingly not. You can gain power, health, success, and more happiness in your life by simply learning how to focus, concentrate, and emancipate hidden powers that your conscious and subconscious mind holds. By reading the following pages, you can implement simple, yet practical, techniques in life and achieve the pinnacle of your destined success. You can be that person who achieves all of your dreams by knowing what you want and knowing how to get it.

The Law of Attraction

The law of attraction can help fix a relationship that needs mending as well as can help a new relationship blossom. What you must understand is that the law of attraction can work for you, your environment, and the people you love in the same way.

Your environment and the people in your life have the same energy you have, and are drawn to your positive energy as much as you are drawn to theirs. If you emit negative energy towards other people and towards your environment, then negative energy will be drawn to you, which can cause a stir of bad luck or cause your loved ones to be hurt or to hurt you.

First, let's focus on your family. Your family is connected to each other through a bond that is thicker than blood. This bond is strong enough to forgive each other however many fights and arguments a family gets into. If things are not going smoothly between your family, there are ways to fix things, so don't let your anger and hatred fester between each other.

First you'll want to make sure that you don't make promises that you cannot keep with your family. If you've decided that you want to improve your life, sit down with your family and talk about it. Your family's input on your life is extremely important, especially if they can offer valuable information to you about your strengths and shortcomings.

Keeping your family involved, taking into consideration their recommendations and suggestions, and communicating with them openly are all key characteristics to healthy family relationships. Yet, this is always easier said than done, so it is important to work on these issues before they manifest into something else.

While there are very specific roles for parents and children in a family setting, there have to be some equal level ground rules set so that a family can function healthily. You'll want to talk to your family about rules which you will have to follow and they will have to follow in order for your lives to improve.

These rules will help give order and balance to your lives and will develop a stronger family structure. This includes a level playing field for all members of the family. If your children have a curfew, so do you. This will help you keep more discipline in your life and will also reinforce positive habits in your kids. You want to be a good role model for your children, so make sure you can deliver.

Communicating with your family is another important factor to consider when trying to improve your life and relationships. Regardless of how busy you are in life, you always need to make time for your family.

Be honest with your family if your job is demanding and does not allow you to spend as much time as you'd like with them.

If you travel a lot, make sure you keep in touch with everyone through phone, e-mail, text messaging, etc. Take the time to make that extra effort with your family.

For instance, if there is something that you need to discuss with your children, don't do it while having dinner. Dinner is supposed to be a time where you can spend time with each other, so talk to your child about the problem after dinner so that you can ensure that quality time together. And another way to ensure quality time is to have family meetings.

Make sure you and your family are always talking to each other because there is no better way to a healthy relationship than communication.

If you and your family are not getting along, you will need to do some work. To help improve a sour relationship between you and your family, you first need to be confident and believe in the fact that you have the power to mend all problems.

No problem is too big to fix, so with that mentality, you want to go into mending mode. It is always easier to say that you want to fix things than to not deliver, so make sure you believe in your will and ability to fix things.

You control the problem, so blaming things on others is not going to help you in any way, or help your relationship. The next thing you'll want to do is let go of the problem that is causing the discomfort. Letting go of negative emotions and feelings will help you work towards a more harmonious relationship.

By not empowering your negative emotions you are letting the law of attraction work in your favor by letting go of the bad energy and emitting positive energy which will then, as you know, help you attract positive energy.

The process may take time, and will definitely take will power, but you have it within you to fix the relationships you care about and it is worth the effort and time it takes to fix them.

And in more or less the same way, you can find a significant other for yourself. The law of attraction works in the same way, but with more components in this scenario.

First when trying to find a potential partner, you'll want to be very clear about the things you want in a partner and the things you don't want in a partner. By being specific, you are sending a message to the universe about what you are attracted to and what you are not attracted to.

When talking about details, you do not need to specify hair color and eye color, but you will want to specify attractive traits, such as personality traits, that appeal to you. What will essentially happen is that your subconscious mind will hold on to these traits and then will be drawn to others who have those traits. So you will want to focus on positive traits as well as values and morals that are similar to yours.

The last step to finding the man or woman of your dreams is to believe that that specific person is out there.

If you have doubts or believe that you will be alone for the rest of your life, you'll want to throw those ideas out of your head, because like the law of attraction states, if you are negative, negative energy will be drawn to you.

So fully believe that you are destined to a life of happiness and health with a person that you love, and that is what you will work towards and reach. Believe in the sanctity of love and the idea that there is someone on this earth who is meant to be with you. Only through your belief, will power, and effort will you find the person you want to be with.

At times it can be difficult to find what you are looking for, especially when looking for a partner, because you can get distracted by other people and by movies and TV shows. The images we see on TV and the stories we've been reading since we were children always portray a very simple story where at the end the man meets the woman and they live happily ever after.

Unfortunately, reality is not so easy, but it can be if you push past daydreaming about the perfect partner and start acting. If you are actively searching for a partner, you'll want to be likable as well as confident. To push that personality and emotion is to embrace the law of attraction and to use it to your advantage.

Although things don't always work we want them to, doesn't mean that the law of attraction doesn't work for us. It just means that we need to come up with a new strategy or we need to focus more on what we want. It is important to believe in yourself and believe in the idea of the law of attraction.

Thought As a Vibration

Repeatedly research has shown the mysterious yet powerful influence one's mind can have over another. Even from prehistoric times, there were records of man exerting a strange and uncanny power over other people's minds.

This influence had the ability to be either positive or negative and was in the hands of the person who used thought as a vibration. There have even been reports of certain individuals who are so in tune with their mind power that they have been able to alter the course of events and "bend" things with their mind.

Even now in the 21st century, this power is still lying untapped our minds, but unfortunately, most people are unable to harness it. Some people are far too complacent to realize where this power lies and how it can be used to the fullest extent.

Those who are ignorant to realize this phenomenon claim that mental energy does not exist, but in reality, the mind is a manifestation of energy which includes light, heat, magnetism, electricity, cohesion, gravitation, and much more. Naysayers refuse to accept that mental energy does not register vibrations of these lower forms.

They are so caught up in their materialistic conceptions that they look the other way and ignore facts which are inconsistent with their theory.

We are aware that the appropriate solution falls within the metaphysical realm and physical science validates the truths of its metaphysical sister science. Most scientists realize that within the realm of physical science, it must all begin at "Thought Transference".

Physical science confirms that all types of underlying forms and evident variations in matter and energy hold within a manifestation of fundamental energy. This energy manifests itself in the form of "vibrations."

Everything we know in the material world is in constant vibration, which is ever exhibiting a higher degree of kinesis. The absence of vibrations would negate the existence of this universe.

This can be seen even in the tiniest form of electronic corpuscles that are scientifically proven elements, which create an atom.

These atoms progress into molecules and eventually in the most complex forms of matter, as there is an everlasting vibration. Then through all forms of energy, magnetism, electricity, light, heat and all others, vibration is also perpetually constant.

In actuality, physical science points towards the fact that vibration is the primary force underlying and triggering various other forms of matter. It also teaches that the apparent variations between various types of matter and energy are caused exclusively by the fluctuating nuances of vibration manifested. Just as we hear the sound of a low tone through your ears, similarly, the high note is also differentiable.

These differences are merely created by the variations in the rate of vibration. Similarly, our eyes can clearly see the difference between dull red located on one side of the spectrum and violet on the other side. In between these colors came other colors such as orange, yellow, green, blue, and indigo.

These disparities are created because of the varying rates of vibration. Concisely, all material and physical matter is eventually a manifestation of immeasurable and eternal energy, which facilitates progression and movement.

The fact is that these forces have always existed and just as they were uncovered, technology will one day create an instrument that can record the vibrations of thought. In line with thought as a vibration, there are even colors and sounds that the human eyes and ears cannot pick up because they are at different frequencies or wave lengths.

Only specific instruments can detect these colors and sounds. When it comes to our sense of touch, there are waves of electricity that pass through the human body, yet we are unaware of this energy, which can power electric lights.

The renowned Professor Elisha Gary, who is an established teacher and scientist, states that "There is much ground for speculation since there is the existence of sound waves and light waves which no human can detect.

The seemingly endless space between forty thousand to four trillion vibrations per second and the range outside ninety trillion vibrations per second, where light does not travel within the realm of motion, makes room for speculation.

So you can see that vibration is backed by scientific theory, and there are countless scientific explanations of the mental influence that is present.

There is one universal truth that manifests itself in all realms, whether it is the mental, spiritual, or physical, all these manifestations work in harmony and agreement.

So there is no need for a mentalist to fear the area of physical science, or for a spiritualist to fear the demesne of mental theory because these phases are all variations of one phase.

We can now establish that vibration underlies all forms of energy and matter. The confirmation of distinguished scientists furthers the idea that vibrations respond to each other in all manifestation of matter and energy.

This indicates that we have the ability to use our mind as a vibration and alter the course of our future. When all the right vibrations start to work in unison, they can become an unstoppable force, which can travel the speed of light and beyond. This force can open the doors of success and help us achieve whatever we want in life.